The Clearing House is the parent organization of The Clearing House Payments Company (which operates an electronic check clearing and settlement system, a clearing house, and a wholesale funds transfer system). From 1849 to 1853 "years highlighted by the California gold rush and construction of a national railroad system" the number of New York banks increased from 24 to 57. Settlement procedures were unsophisticated, with banks settling their accounts by employing porters to travel from bank to bank to exchange checks for bags of coin, or "especie." Certificates relieved the strain on the bank's cash flow, thus reducing the likelihood of a run on deposits. Publisher. Berkeley, University of California. Collection. library_of_congress; americana.
