The Story Behind The National March of America: The Stars and Stripes Forever Lyrics. The National March of America: The Stars and Stripes Forever Lyrics - The influence and motivation behind a musical composition for a composer is sometimes very unique.Â The Stars & Stripes Forever and other marches of that period would repeat the second strain and for musical contrast have the first time through played with a softer dynamic volume while the second time being louder. The third primary melody in a march is called the trio. The trio is referred to as the main melody of the march.Â Let eagle shriek from lofty peak The never-ending watchword of our land; Let summer breeze waft through the trees The echo of the chorus grand. Sing out for liberty and light, Sing out for freedom and the right.

"The Stars and Stripes Forever" is a patriotic American march written and composed by John Philip Sousa. By a 1987 act of the U.S. Congress, it is the official National March of the United States of America. In his autobiography, Marching Along, Sousa wrote that he composed the march on Christmas Day, 1896. He was onboard an ocean liner on his way home from a vacation with his wife in Europe and had just learned of the recent death of David Blakely, the manager of the Sousa Band. He composed the march How did the design of our American flag emerge to its present stage? What do other countries' flags look like? 3 The Pledge of Allegiance The Pledge of Allegiance of the United States is an oath of loyalty to the national flag and the Republic of the United States of America, originally composed by Francis Bellamy in 1892 and formally adopted by Congress as the national pledge in The Pledge has been modified four times since its composition, with the most recent change.Â Research conducted by the Smithsonian National Museum of American History notes that the story of Betsy Ross making the first American flag for General George Washington entered into American consciousness about the time of the 1876 centennial celebrations.
