- The foundation of management accounting is cost control to really understand management accounting. You need to grasp the flow of costs in manufacturing, service, and merchandising organizations. Understanding cost flows is a useful way to understand how a business is structured or organized. Without accurate cost information it is difficult to set prices, evaluate performance, reward employees, or make production decisions. It is. Costs of manufacturing products can be broken down into three elements, direct materials, direct labor and manufacturing overhead. Direct materials include the cost of raw materials that are used directly in the manufacture of Cost control would mean a reduction in the percentage of costs and, in turn, an increase in the percentage of profits. Cost Control Concepts. The long-run prosperity of a firm depends upon its ability to earn sustained profits. Profit depends upon the difference between the selling price and the cost of production. Very often, the selling price is not within the control of a firm but many costs are under its control. The firm should therefore aim at doing whatever is done at the minimum cost. In fact, cost control is an essential element for the successful operation of a business. Cost control by management means a search for better and more economical ways of completing each operation. Cost Control is a technique which makes available the necessary information to the management that actual costs are aligned with the budgeted costs or not. Cost Reduction is a technique which we used to save the unit cost of the product without compromising its quality. Most of the enterprise is want to maximize the profit, which is possible by decreasing the production cost. For this purpose, management uses two efficient tools, i.e. cost control and cost reduction. Cost Control is a technique which makes available the necessary information to the management that actual costs are aligned with the budgeted costs or not. Cost Reduction is a technique which we used to save the unit cost of the product without compromising its quality. Cost control and Cost reduction.
