I also have lectures and seminars. At lunchtime I meet up with my sister and we have a snack at the university cafe. After classes I make myself go to the library where I spend about six hours a week reading for my seminars. My sister and I come home tired. I always find excuses to put my homework off. Unlike me, my sister manages to do the housework and get down to homework. Mum can't understand it but it seems obvious to me that this is when the day starts, so why miss the beginning? After a quick warm-up and a chat we creep downstairs to see what's been left around from the night before, although Mum is wise to this and has usually put away anything really interesting. My little sister put the bottle at the window and went to play with her doll. Soon she forgot about her bottle. One day she looked at the bottle and saw a little green shoot. "I see a little green shoot," cried my sister. She was very glad and showed her bottle-tree to everybody.
