Women's Sacred Circles and Spirituality Groups By Rev. Memie Watson Cabot HPs The focus and... As people from all over the world join you on this ring of crystals, you take a glance around and may start to see groups of beings in robes with solemn faces. Don't create them or the experience with your mind's eye. Be patient, they will come; they are from a higher plane of existence and they are looking for those who are the most sincere on their quest for solving these issues. Through this Indigo light comes psychic awareness for the Universal Mind as well. While you are waiting for these hooded groups to approach you, allow answers to other problem to come forth. (Pause 3 min). Except th

This much-needed guide celebrates the rich diversity of women's spiritual lives and offers practical, step-by-step advice for those who want to create and sustain a spirituality group of their own. Sacred Circles shows us how we can use a group to explore our relationship to the sacred, and honor the divine in everyday life. The authors, drawing from their own group experience as well as those of many diverse groups around the country, share the model they've developed, while offering wise advice on how and why groups work. They propose circle basics, such as listening without an agenda and rotating leadership, and also offer reflections on the power of personal storytelling and thoughts on reclaiming and reinventing ritual. I used this book to start a spirituality group and I have nothing but praise for it! Everything you need to start your own group is there, including meeting topics that are already planned out for you. My group has relied heavily on this guide, both in our formative stage and also during the first few months of meetings. I anticipate that we will continue using it for at least another year or two. My copy has circulated amongst all the group members -- it's getting pretty dog-eared! "Sacred Circles" has been the main contributing factor in the success of my group. Excellent.

The Sacred Women's Circle Creatrix program is a sacred program for women hearing the call to return to ceremony, ritual, earth connection and divine callings. This transformational program combines online study, workshops, sacred trainings and live ceremonies and in-person training. While this is a training weekend, this is also a sacred space for you to fully step into your own magic. Due to current travel restrictions, our retreat date is TBA. Leading a sacred circle for women is an incredible calling. As a circle guide, it is hugely important to understand how to maintain a safe and sacred space, how to approach conflict, how to support a woman in healing, how to protect your own energy and how to effectively hold a sacred circle.
